

GERMANY'S REPLY GIVEN AMBASSADOR GERARD

PREPAREDNESS MAKES ITALY'S ARMY AND NAVY AT VERY OUTSET A FACTOR IN WAR

Italy plunges at once into the active fighting in Europe. The soldiers of King Emanuel are now within a few miles of the city of Trent, have captured Storo and are Bombarding Riva. The preparedness of the Italian forces and the aggressive campaign being waged has taken the Austrians by surprise, causing them to fall back before the rush of the new foe. The Turks are sending a force of 80,000 men into the Gallipoli peninsula with the hope of crushing the allies' expeditionary force. Shortage of ammunition, however, threatens the new Turkish campaign.

GERMAN NOTE IN HANDS OF GERARD

Kaiser Avoids Decisive Statements and Urges Agreement on Facts in Lusitania Case—Regrets Expressed for "Unintentional Attack" and Compensation Offered.

CESSATION OF SUBMARINE ATTACKS WHILE NEGOTIATIONS ARE PENDING

Urgent Warning Issued by Germany to American Shipping Indicates Torpedoing of U. S. Vessels Will Cease—Note to Point to British Escort in Gulf of Light Case.

By Associated Press.
Berlin, May 29.—Germany's answer to the American note was delivered to Ambassador Gerard this morning. The German reply avoids decisive statements in regard to the question raised by the United States, pending a further exchange of views.

Berlin, May 29.—(Bulletin)
—The German reply to the American note regrets "unintentional attack" on the Gulf of Light and Cushing and offers compensation in cases where Germany is found wrong.

Washington, May 29.—Ambassador Gerard's dispatches, concerning the probable contents of the German note, are guarded with the greatest secrecy. The Germans will ask for an agreement on the facts of the Lusitania case—whether she was armed and carried war munitions—was indicated by official and press dispatches.

It is believed such a proposal will be met with a request for abatement of attacks on American vessels or lives while the discussion is in progress.

Washington, May 29.—An urgent warning to American shipping against traversing the naval war zone incautiously, and to have all neutral markings displayed conspicuously as possible including illumination at night was communicated to the State Department today by the German government through the American Embassy at Berlin.

Washington, May 29.—On the eve of Germany's reply to the American note on the sinking of the Lusitania there are indications that President Wilson will take the position that if Germany wishes to conduct a long diplomatic negotiation she first shall suspend submarine warfare on American ships or those carrying her lives.

It was expected here that the German note might be delivered any hour today to Ambassador Gerard. The first official dispatches in from Europe gave no intimation of the situation and officials were of the opinion that should the document be delivered to the American Embassy today it might not reach Washington much before Monday. They had no official intimation of its contents.

The passing of three weeks, however, since the Lusitania was torpedoed, has not diminished the tension in high official quarters, where the conviction prevailed that President Wilson feels Germany should make an early disavowal of any intention that American lives should be lost.

The admission by the German Admiralty that a German submarine torpedoed the American steamer Gulf of Light without warning is taken to confirm the conclusion of the Washington government reached before the Lusitania note was sent. Reports from Berlin that the German submarine commander had said close investigation of the neutral or belligerent character of the Gulf of Light was dangerous because she was in the company of two British patrol boats, was pointed out by officials as proof of their contention that German submarine commanders without visit and search, or at least warning, may subject all American vessels to the same risk as belligerent craft.

EVIDENCE SHOWS TORPEDO USED

Washington, May 29.—Evidence forwarded by Ambassador Page to the State Department today, gathered by Lieutenant John H. Powers, naval attaché at the American Embassy at London, indicates that the American steamer Nebraska was torpedoed by a submarine.

RIVERS NEAR DANGER POINT

St. Louis, Mo., May 29.—The Missouri river continues to rise and the Osage is now reaching the highlands. It is feared thousands of acres of wheat and corn will be washed out.

DAVY JONES GETS ANOTHER

By Associated Press.
Liverpool, May 29.—The British steamer Ethiope has been torpedoed and sunk. The chief officer and 16 men have been picked up. The rest of the crew is supposed to be in boats. She was sunk by the German submarine U-24.

WILL TAKE ALL STEPS NECESSARY IN MEXICO

By Associated Press.
Washington, May 29.—President Wilson's forthcoming statement on the Mexican situation will contain a detailed review of conditions and serve a warning on the factional leaders that the United States will insist on an improvement of the internal situation.

While officials refused today to discuss what alternative the president has in mind, it was broadly intimated that the administration is determined to take such steps as may be necessary.

The statement has been written by President Wilson himself, on his typewriter in his study, and is said to contain about 1,500 words. It will be forwarded to the various Mexican leaders through American Mexico City are progressing and the agents. It is said to be based on the conclusion that conditions in Mexico have come to such a state that the United States, as the southern republic's "next friend" must see to it that there is a change.

ITALIAN ADVANCE STEADILY IN FACE OF GREAT OPPOSITION

"Its" Now Nearing Trieste and Panic Results Over Prospective Bombardment—Teutonic Advance Near Przemyśl Continues—Turks Center Efforts On Defense of Capital.

By Associated Press.
Geneva, Switzerland, May 29.—The Italians, after a severe fight along the frontier north of Lake Idro, have captured the town of Storo and are now bombarding Riva. Italian armies are drawing near Trent and Trieste, the principal cities over which Italy went to war. Little news of the campaign is received from Italy on account of a rigid censorship, but dispatches state the Italians are still advancing. Near Goritz the Austrians offered determined resistance, leading to fierce fighting.

Anti-Italian disorders are reported in Trieste and the municipal authorities are said to have fled.

North of the Gulf of Trieste beyond fighting is in progress south of Goritz. The Austrians are retreating slowly. Italian forces have arrived before Gradisca, about 16 miles from Trieste.

The Italian authorities issued an order last night prohibiting Germans and Austrians from leaving the country.

FLOODS DANGERS ARE INCREASING

By Associated Press.
Kansas City, May 29.—Increasing fears of disastrous conditions from high waters along the Missouri river eastward from Kansas City were expected today. Reports that the Osage river is out of its banks 40 miles above the mouth were received here.

American Red Cross supplies for the famine sufferers are to be concentrated in three great government warehouses at Galveston, Laredo and El Paso. Negotiations with Carranza and Villa authorities to open the railroad from Vera Cruz to Mexico City are progressing and the Red Cross authorities propose to have supplies ready.

FRENCH LINER BREAKS IN TWO

By Associated Press.
London, May 29.—Lloyds have received a report that the French liner Champa, ashore near St. Nazaire, has broken in two. Her 900 passengers were removed to safety.

FREIGHTER BURNS MANY MISSING

By Associated Press.
San Francisco, May 29.—Five of the crew of 31 of the freight steamer Mackinaw, which drifted all night afire in a heavy gale south from Point Reyes, were picked up today from two of the ship's boats by the steamer California. A third boat, which left the ship at the same time, is missing.

San Francisco, May 29.—The freighter Mackinaw, with her fuel tanks a raging furnace and about 15 men of her crew aboard, renewed today her distress signals as she steamed and drifted 27 miles off shore. Nine of her crew who put off in boats were picked up today.

Petrograd, May 29.—Russian army officers declare the Russian victory at Sienlawa, in central Galicia, has offset successes of Austro-German forces. German communications are threatened between the Vistula and Carpathians, it is claimed.

Paris, May 29.—A great demonstration was held here to express French appreciation of what Americans have done for France during the war. Wreaths were placed on the Washington statue and Ambassador Sharp was honored at a big meeting.

REDISTRICTING BILL IS PASSED BY HOUSE

Congressional Gerrymander Now Up to Senate and Is Expected to Receive O. K.—Vote, Based Upon Party Lines, Was 65 For and 36 Against—Adjournment Late Today.

By Associated Press.
Columbus, May 29.—Next to the last steps before the final adjournment of the Legislature expected late today, was taken by the House this afternoon when it accepted the Conference Committee's report on the Sprague congressional bill by a vote of 65 to 36, based on party lines.

The fate of this measure thus was put up to the Senate, whose Republican members must stand together in order to insure enactment of the measure.

Consideration by both houses of the Conference Committee's report on the budget appropriation bill was the principal piece of business yet remaining before the legislators can quit their work and end the regular session of the 81st general assembly.

Pressure from administration sources was exerted on rebellious Republican senators who had protested they would not vote for the redistricting bill as recommended by the Conference Committee and leaders declared they expected its passage in the upper house. Only one member of the Conference Committee, Senator Cass of Putnam, refused to sign the report.

Five districts, the third, fourth, ninth, thirteenth and twenty-first, are Democratic with two doubtful. Ross and Fayette are placed in the sixth district, along with Clinton, Highland, Warren, Clermont and Brown.

BULK OF CASH GOES TO SONS

By Associated Press.
New York, May 29.—The bulk of the estate of Alfred G. Vanderbilt, who perished on the Lusitania, and which has been established at more than $50,000,000, is left in trust to his two infant sons by his second wife, Margaret Emerson Vanderbilt. Mr. Vanderbilt's will was filed for probate today.

FRENCH LAUD AMERICANS

By Associated Press.
Paris, May 29.—A great demonstration was held here to express French appreciation of what Americans have done for France during the war. Wreaths were placed on the Washington statue and Ambassador Sharp was honored at a big meeting.

J. H. PATTERSON FILES BRIEFS

By Associated Press.
Washington, May 29.—Briefs were filed in the Supreme Court today on behalf of John H. Patterson and other officers of the National Cash Register Company, in opposition to the recent application of the Department of Justice for a writ to review their conviction under the criminal section of the Sherman anti-trust act in the Federal District Court in Ohio, but which later was reversed by the Federal Circuit Court of Appeals.

U. S. VESSEL IN DANGER

By Associated Press.
Washington, May 29.—The American station ship Scorpion narrowly escaped damage by a submarine on May 24 at Constantinople, according to a report received today from Ambassador Morgenthau. The vessel has been requested to change her anchorage on account of possible danger from shore batteries.

BIG BUDGET IS PASSED BY SENATE

Columbus, May 29.—Loaded down with amendments, the senate passed the long budget. Though the Winans school code bill enabled the senate to cut out $30,000 from the school budget, the senate added $100,000 to the aggregate amount of the bill, a net increase of $70,000. The house is yet to take action on the budget.

Persistent efforts of Governor Willis to break the long deadlock between the senate and house Republicans on the Sprague congressional gerrymander resulted in the drafting of a majority report by the conferees, hope of a unanimous report having been abandoned. This report favors the main contention of the house for making the Fifth district slightly Republican.

A second set of conferees took charge of the Whiteacre one day's rest in seven bill on the failure of the first set to agree. The disagreement of the committee was due to the fact that the senate conferees didn't want any seven day bill at all. The house conferees offered to yield everything and accept all the numerous exemptions with which the senate had loaded down the measure, but the senate conferees would not even agree to the bill in the shape the senate had passed it.

Majority members of the senate, at a caucus, decided to kill the Jackson bill, which sought to repeal partially the nonpartisan judiciary law by requiring that candidates shall be specified on the ballot as having been nominated by Republicans or Democrats, petition or convention, and any other data which may be specified by the election board. The bill, which now is in committee, will die there.

The Tremper bill, to authorize subsidies by counties for the construction of the Lake Erie-Pittsburgh canal, a substitute for the bill vetoed by Governor Willis, got only thirty votes. Fleming of Youngstown charged the railroads were fighting the bill.

Bills were passed by the house to provide method for submission of constitutional amendments and for printing the financial budget. Also the Fellingner senate bill authorizing municipalities, on vote of the people, to issue emergency bonds to carry out orders of the state board of health for water purification and sewage disposal, and the Winans bill, fixing Sept. 15 as the date of going into effect of the rural school code. The Mooney senate bill to increase the property holders' proportion of street paving assessments, was defeated.

Governor Willis vetoed the Heinzel.

The majority members of the senate, at their caucus, decided to kill the Hoy resolution providing a constitutional amendment to repeal the civil service provision of the constitution. Governor Willis signed the Moore-Barnes civil service bill.

The senate passed the Beetham bill, which abolishes political nominations by petitions. It requires the candidate to file a declaration of intention, attested by five members of his party. In addition, he is compelled to pay a fee equal to one-half of 1 per cent of the salary of the office which he is seeking. In no instance shall the fee be greater than $25.

LUSITANIA HELD TO BE BRITISH SHIP

Berlin, May 29.—That the German reply to the American note sent to Berlin after the Lusitania was sunk will not be final, but will open the way to a further exchange of diplomatic messages, was intimated by a high German official.

Daily conferences on the nature of the reply are now being held by Chancellor Von Bethmann-Hollweg and Foreign Secretary Von Jagow. It is practically complete.

As far as the Lusitania incident is concerned, Germany's reply, it is said, will be that the destruction of that liner was justified because she was in reality an auxiliary cruiser. German officials claim this is proved by the November navy list issued by the British admiralty. On page 42 of that book they assert the Mauretania and Lusitania are listed as "royal naval reserve merchant vessels," with this note:

"The vessel named below is held by the Cunard company at the disposal of the lord commissioners of the admiralty and receive an annual subvention."

They further assert that Captain Turner is named in the same navy list as an honorary commander of the royal naval reserve.

These facts, they contend, show that the Lusitania was a warship and that she was commanded by an officer of the British navy.

APPEALS FOR AID FOR THE MEXICANS

Washington, May 29.—It is stated in authoritative circles that a change in President Wilson's Mexican policy is about to take place. A statement will be made by the president within a few days.

This statement will be addressed to the American people, but it will carry an unmistakable warning to the warring factions in Mexico. Its terms will be more general than specific, but it is said will put the Mexican leaders on notice that they may expect action from the United States unless they speedily bring about an improvement of conditions in the southern republic.

This change in attitude on the part of the administration was evidenced by the president issuing an appeal to the American public to give money to the American Red Cross with which to purchase food for tens of thousands of destitute and starving people throughout Mexico.

The chief significance of this appeal lies in the fact that efforts of the Red Cross heretofore to send relief supplies into Mexico have proved futile because of the attitude of the warring factions.

In issuing his call to the public to contribute, the president is generally considered to have committed the United States government to the task of seeing that access to the famine points is had. Unless the course of the contending leaders in Mexico is radically altered, the United States may therefore find itself compelled to seize railroads and ports of entry in order to make good on its determination to relieve the condition of the starving noncombatants.

President's Appeal.
The appeal for funds for the Red Cross came as something of a surprise. Before there was time, however, for the full significance of the president's action to be realized, it was followed by this statement, issued at the White House:

"When the president's appeal for aid for Mexicans was issued, it was also stated at the executive office that a statement from the president on the present situation in Mexico might be expected within the next few days."

The purpose of this statement is understood to be twofold: first, to satisfy the country that the policy of drifting in Mexico is not to be continued indefinitely; and second, to give the factions in Mexico a last opportunity to take such action as is most likely to restore law, order and government in Mexico.

Here is the president's appeal:

To the Public:
The American people, with characteristic generosity and an impartial spirit of brotherhood with all nations, have contributed liberally towards the relief of the appalling suffering caused by the unprecedented war in Europe.

There has now arisen a condition of equally great suffering and need close to our own borders. Due to several years of internal disturbances, the unfortunate people of many parts of Mexico have been reduced to the verge of starvation, and unless aid is rendered they may die in great numbers for lack of food.

The American Red Cross is ready to undertake relief work for the benefit of the Mexican people. I appeal most earnestly to our people, therefore, to contribute both money and supplies of food to mitigate the suffering and misery so close at hand. All contributions in money may be sent to the American Red Cross, Washington, or to its local treasurers. Those who are able to contribute corn, rice, beans or flour are requested to communicate with the American Red Cross headquarters, Washington, for instructions. WOODROW WILSON.

FIVE PERSONS ARE CREMATED

Tupper Lake, N. Y., May 29.—Ezra Tebo, fifty, three Tebo children, Frederick, George and Minnie, and Louis Perry, sixty, Adirondack guide who lived with the Tebos, were burned to death when fire destroyed the house occupied by the family of Ezra Tebo. When the firemen reached the scene of the fire they discovered they did not have sufficient hose to reach the burning building, and while they returned to the house for more hose the dwelling was consumed. A search revealed the bodies of the five victims in the ruins.

GERMANS ADMIT SINKING GULFLIGHT

Berlin, May 29.—All doubt that the American steamship Gulflight was torpedoed by a German submarine was removed when it was announced by the admiralty that the commander of the submarine in question admitted the attack, reporting that he thought the Gulflight was a British vessel or that she carried contraband. The submarine commander, as a reason for his belief, set forth the oil ship was being convoyed by British patrol boats, which made closer investigation dangerous.

The disagreement of the committee was due to the fact that the senate conferees didn't want any seven day bill at all. The house conferees offered to yield everything and accept all the numerous exemptions with which the senate had loaded down the measure, but the senate conferees would not even agree to the bill in the shape the senate had passed it.

Majority members of the senate, at a caucus, decided to kill the Jackson bill, which sought to repeal partially the nonpartisan judiciary law by requiring that candidates shall be specified on the ballot as having been nominated by Republicans or Democrats, petition or convention, and any other data which may be specified by the election board. The bill, which now is in committee, will die there.

The Tremper bill, to authorize subsidies by counties for the construction of the Lake Erie-Pittsburgh canal, a substitute for the bill vetoed by Governor Willis, got only thirty votes. Fleming of Youngstown charged the railroads were fighting the bill.

Bills were passed by the house to provide method for submission of constitutional amendments and for printing the financial budget. Also the Felinger senate bill authorizing municipalities, on vote of the people, to issue emergency bonds to carry out orders of the state board of health for water purification and sewage disposal, and the Winans bill, fixing Sept. 15 as the date of going into effect of the rural school code. The Mooney senate bill to increase the property holders' proportion of street paving assessments, was defeated.

Governor Willis vetoed the Heinzel.

The majority members of the senate, at their caucus, decided to kill the Hoy resolution providing a constitutional amendment to repeal the civil service provision of the constitution. Governor Willis signed the Moore-Barnes civil service bill.

The senate passed the Beetham bill, which abolishes political nominations by petitions. It requires the candidate to file a declaration of intention, attested by five members of his party. In addition, he is compelled to pay a fee equal to one-half of 1 per cent of the salary of the office which he is seeking. In no instance shall the fee be greater than $25.

OHIO BRIEFS

Mother of Consul Rodgers Dead.
Columbus, May 29.—Mrs. Eliza Sulivant Rodgers, seventy-seven, widow of the late Major A. D. Rodgers, is dead following a year's illness. Three daughters and four sons survive. Colonel James Linn Rodgers, United States consul general at Havana, Cuba, a son, was summoned to Columbus several weeks ago because of his mother's illness. He returned to his post about a week ago.

Shooting Case Ignored.
Cincinnati, May 29.—The Hamilton county grand jury ignored the case of Deputy State Game Warden David Bowersock and David Ferris, who were under charges of shooting to kill. The two officers were alleged to have shot Dick Jones, assistant city sheriff, at Remington, O., Nov. 1.

Advertising Act Held Valid.
Cincinnati, May 29.—Judge Alexander in municipal court held in the case of Charles Scheinold that the new Ohio honest advertising law is constitutional and that Scheinold will have to stand trial on the merits of the case.

Teamster a Suicide.
Columbus, May 29.—Despondent because he had been out of work, Herman D. Armbruster, thirty-six, a teamster, ended his life by drinking carbolic acid. He died in an ambulance while being taken to a hospital.

Wets Carry Ripley.
Ripley, O., May 29.—Ripley was carried by the wets in a local law election called by the dries, the vote being 275 wet to 202 dry.

LUSITANIA HELD TO BE BRITISH SHIP

Berlin, May 29.—That the German reply to the American note sent to Berlin after the Lusitania was sunk will not be final, but will open the way to a further exchange of diplomatic messages, was intimated by a high German official.

Daily conferences on the nature of the reply are now being held by Chancellor Von Bethmann-Hollweg and Foreign Secretary Von Jagow. It is practically complete.

As far as the Lusitania incident is concerned, Germany's reply, it is said, will be that the destruction of that liner was justified because she was in reality an auxiliary cruiser. German officials claim this is proved by the November navy list issued by the British admiralty. On page 42 of that book they assert the Mauretania and Lusitania are listed as "royal naval reserve merchant vessels," with this note:

"The vessel named below is held by the Cunard company at the disposal of the lord commissioners of the admiralty and receive an annual subvention."

They further assert that Captain Turner is named in the same navy list as an honorary commander of the royal naval reserve.

These facts, they contend, show that the Lusitania was a warship and that she was commanded by an officer of the British navy.

APPEALS FOR AID FOR THE MEXICANS

Washington, May 29.—It is stated in authoritative circles that a change in President Wilson's Mexican policy is about to take place. A statement will be made by the president within a few days.

This statement will be addressed to the American people, but it will carry an unmistakable warning to the warring factions in Mexico. Its terms will be more general than specific, but it is said will put the Mexican leaders on notice that they may expect action from the United States unless they speedily bring about an improvement of conditions in the southern republic.

This change in attitude on the part of the administration was evidenced by the president issuing an appeal to the American public to give money to the American Red Cross with which to purchase food for tens of thousands of destitute and starving people throughout Mexico.

The chief significance of this appeal lies in the fact that efforts of the Red Cross heretofore to send relief supplies into Mexico have proved futile because of the attitude of the warring factions.

In issuing his call to the public to contribute, the president is generally considered to have committed the United States government to the task of seeing that access to the famine points is had. Unless the course of the contending leaders in Mexico is radically altered, the United States may therefore find itself compelled to seize railroads and ports of entry in order to make good on its determination to relieve the condition of the starving noncombatants.

President's Appeal.

The appeal for funds for the Red Cross came as something of a surprise. Before there was time, however, for the full significance of the president's action to be realized, it was followed by this statement, issued at the White House:

"When the president's appeal for aid for Mexicans was issued, it was also stated at the executive office that a statement from the president on the present situation in Mexico might be expected within the next few days."

The purpose of this statement is understood to be twofold: first, to satisfy the country that the policy of drifting in Mexico is not to be continued indefinitely; and second, to give the factions in Mexico a last opportunity to take such action as is most likely to restore law, order and government in Mexico.

Here is the president's appeal:

To the Public:

The American people, with characteristic generosity and an impartial spirit of brotherhood with all nations, have contributed liberally towards the relief of the appalling suffering caused by the unprecedented war in Europe.

There has now arisen a condition of equally great suffering and need close to our own borders. Due to several years of internal disturbances, the unfortunate people of many parts of Mexico have been reduced to the verge of starvation, and unless aid is rendered they may die in great numbers for lack of food.

The American Red Cross is ready to undertake relief work for the benefit of the Mexican people. I appeal most earnestly to our people, therefore, to contribute both money and supplies of food to mitigate the suffering and misery so close at hand. All contributions in money may be sent to the American Red Cross, Washington, or to its local treasurers. Those who are able to contribute corn, rice, beans or flour are requested to communicate with the American Red Cross headquarters, Washington, for instructions.

FIVE PERSONS ARE CREMATED

Tupper Lake, N. Y., May 29.—Ezra Tebo, fifty, three Tebo children, Frederick, George and Minnie, and Louis Ferry, sixty, Adirondack guide who lived with the Tebos, were burned to death when fire destroyed the house occupied by the family of Ezra Tebo. When the firemen reached the scene of the fire they discovered they did not have sufficient hose to reach the burning building, and while they returned to the house for more hose the dwelling was consumed. A search revealed the bodies of the five victims in the ruins.

GERMANS ADMIT SINKING GULFIGHT

Berlin, May 29.—All doubt that the American steamship Gulfight was torpedoed by a German submarine was removed when it was announced by the admiralty that the commander of the submarine in question admitted the attack, reporting that he thought the Gulfight was a British vessel or that she carried contraband. The submarine commander, as a reason for his belief, set forth the oil ship was being convoyed by British patrol boats, which made closer investigation dangerous.

SEC'Y BRYAN NAMES HARMON AND COX

Washington, May 29.—Secretary Bryan announced the following men will be named American members of international commissions provided for under his peace treaties with foreign powers: Chancellor Samuel Avery of the University of Nebraska, Sweden; Judson Harmon of Cincinnati, Norway, and ex-Governor Cox of Ohio, Portugal.

AUSTRIAN SUB SUNK OFF VENICE

Rome, May 29.—An Austrian submarine was sunk in an engagement off Venice between two Italian torpedo boats and two Austrian submarines. One of the latter was repeatedly struck and emitted a column of black smoke. This was followed by an explosion which hurled a column of water high over the surface. It is supposed that the submarine then sank. No damage was caused to the Italian vessels.

NEW THOUGHT HEALERS ARE VIOLATING LAW

New York, May 29.—New Thought healers who teach the exercise of will power and nerve suppression are guilty of violating the law prohibiting the practice of medicine without a license when they undertake to effect a cure of physical ailments, under a decision by the appellate division of the supreme court.

"The Conscience of the World."

In these times when the people are compelled to hear and read so much of the horrors and tragedies of war the words of Henry Sienkiewicz, the Polish author, are encouraging to those who hope that a return to sanity and to higher ambitions than success in war, by the nations of Europe, will not be long delayed.

Acknowledging a remittance of money for the war sufferers in stricken Poland, the author states:

"It seems that the principles of Christian love and brotherhood banished from Europe had to cross the ocean in search of refuge and they found it in the heart of the American citizens. Their generosity has saved thousands from starvation and the task of America is not yet accomplished.

The higher the United States will raise the standard the greater and more blessed will be the worldly mission."

It is far better for this nation to counsel peace and to show by example the greatness of peace, the blessings of peace, as compared with war, than it would be to plunge madly into the maelstrom of war and add to the destruction and horror of it all no matter what glory might won by the sword.

The United States has a great work to do now and is doing it. But in the years to come—the years following the close of the war when the work of rehabilitating the nations must be taken up, when the wounds must be bound up, when the burdens and sorrows must be lessened, then will come the greater task, and this nation must keep its standard raised high to be able to accomplish that work.

This nation must indeed become the "conscience of the world." Time will vindicate a policy which insures peace for this nation and time cannot fail to prove the might of the nation which holds firmly to peace.

The world looks to America now and the world will expect more of America in the future. Humanity needs America now, but humanity will need America more in the future.

America must remain in a position to meet the demands of humanity and America can only do that by raising the standard high and keeping it high.

If America raises high the standard of peace and maintains it in these times of war, that will serve as the inspiration of nations in the years to come.

The Treasury Balance Interest

Providing that the cost of the new home for state departments should be paid from the interest received annually on the balances in the state treasury proved that the members of the house of representatives knew there was such a principle in business as economy and that it is wise too for the state to live on its income rather than consume the principal sum.

That proviso to pay the cost of building out of the interest on treasury balances indicated, too, that this legislature expects its successors to maintain a balance in the treasury and (of immediate importance) it indicates that this legislature proposes to keep intact the eleven million dollar balance in the treasury which it inherited from the preceding state administration.

Another matter of more than passing interest in that connection is that there was no deficit in the state treasury under the former state administration and the charge that such a deficit existed was false. Still another fact of importance disclosed is that the departments outside the state house are necessary and must be provided with a home.

If the campaign charges of last fall were true we would have the legislature's building committee endeavoring to construct a new office building with the interest on a treasury deficit for the purpose of housing departments which should be housed in the present state house or done away with entirely.

Happily the building committee, if one actually starts to work, will not be called upon to solve any such an impossible problem.

All of which is but another illustration of how little foundation there is in fact for some of the talk of the irresponsible election time spell binders.

Ohio is a big progressive state and the official family must, necessarily, be of some size.

Ohio stands in front rank of states in wealth, in culture and in progress. Her people know what is best in the way of laws and regulations to meet existing conditions, they have the means to pay for all necessary departments of government as well as the desire to do so and they will do so. Any assertions to the contrary are cheap, demagogic and unworthy of any man who aspires to hold office.

Poetry For Today

THE THINNING RANKS.

Day by day their ranks are thinning,
one by one they disappear,
And at each succeeding roll call, fewer voices answer: "Here!"

Still their regiments are marching—many march with solesless tread
And no bugles sound "assembly" in the bivouac of the dead.

Hats are reverently lifted to the heroes lying here;
Lift them to the living heroes—hail them all with cheer on cheer.

Not for long will they be with us;
soon each regiment will be Tented here beneath the blossoms of the land it helped to free.

But today the drums are muffled and and the flag at half-mast waves.
Keeping green dead heroes' memories as the grass above their graves.

Still another weary winter shrouded in the snow they lay;
Now we bring them crowns and gar-lands of the loveliest blooms of May.

Let them rest in honored slumber, while their praise from shore to shore,
A hundred million throats are swelling—we are free forevermore!

BROOKLYN BRIDGE.

Painting the Great Structure is a Long and Costly Job.

Every three or four years it becomes necessary to paint the Brooklyn bridge in order to prevent the corrosion and deterioration of its structural members, says Popular Mechanics Magazine. This is a task which requires the services of a small army of "human spiders," who climb about over the web of cables and stringers with almost as much composure and agility as if they were insects instead of men.

With buckets and brushes, they cling in the network, swinging in the wind as the constant stream of traffic surges across the East river. Between them and the river beneath there are more than 200 feet of space and the cables.

Every exposed strand and spot of the whole structure must be painted, so the men scramble over the cables until they reach the topmost point of the great towers, which extend 272 feet above the water, and finally end up on the scaffolds suspended beneath the structure, where the mastheads of passing vessels scrape under the planks, sometimes missing them by a margin of only a few inches. This work continues usually for six or eight months before it is completed and costs approximately $50,000.—Exchange.

In spite of the worldwide uplift work of the last few years the end seat hog is just as pigish this year as ever.

LUKE MCLUKE SAYS

You are in the same fix as a big league player. What you batted in 1900 isn't going to hold your job for you in 1915.

What has become of the old fashioned girl who thought it was a great honor to have the smallest waist in town?

A man is as old as he feels when he wakes up in the morning. A woman is as old as she looks when she wakes up in the morning.

There are all sorts of neighbors in the world, including the woman who gets mad because the little squalling brat next door cries and disturbs Fido when he is taking his beauty nap in the afternoon.

For a little while she lingers at the front window and watches for her husband because she loves him so. But later on she lingers at the front window and watches for her husband because she is afraid he is flirting with some of the women in the neighborhood.

The reason why everybody talks at once at a gathering of women is because that is the only way to get a word in edgewise.

There was a time when the girls were so bashful that they waited for a man to propose to them. But nowadays a man has a choice between being led to the altar and filing a protest and bucking up against a breach of promise suit.

The old fashioned man who was born with a silver spoon in his mouth now has a son who was born with a corkscrew in his hand.

It takes a whole lot of crumbs of comfort to make a square meal.

Any old time a man marries for money he is certain to discover that his wife is too rich to agree with him.

If a man went downtown with his head doled up in a three cornered dingus with turrets and curlicues and a cat's tail and a chicken head pinned on one side and a young whisk broom and a bunch of spring onions on the other side and two strips of red flannel hanging down in the rear, he would be arrested and slammed in the booby hatch. But a woman can do it and get away with it.

ROMANTIC ELOPEMENT HAS SEQUEL IN SQUIRE'S COURT

FRED ZIMMERMAN, WHOSE ELOPEMENT WITH ROSETTA LUTTERILL A YEAR AGO CAUSED A STIR IN HIGH SCHOOL HERE, IS BROUGHT INTO COURT AT INSTANCE OF WIFE AND BOUND OVER TO GRAND JURY ON CHARGE OF ASSAULT AND BATTERY — REQUIRED ALSO TO GIVE PEACE BOND.

A most unpleasant sequel to a romantic elopement of a little more than a year ago was enacted in the court of Justice of the Peace T. N. Craig Friday afternoon when Fred Zimmerman, a young farmer of the Milledgeville neighborhood, was asked to answer to a charge of assault and battery preferred against him by his wife who was formerly Miss Rosetta Lutterill, of this city. Zimmerman waived examination and was bound over to the grand jury. He was also placed under peace bond. The bonds were $300 each and were supplied.

The news of the difficulty comes as a shock to the many friends of the pair here, as well as to those of their own neighborhood; especially as it recalls their romantic elopement of more than a year ago, when, as sweetheart classmates in the local high school, they played "hookey" one afternoon and went to Covington, Ky., where they procured a license to wed and were made man and wife. The stir created in the school at the time is well remembered.

Since their marriage the couple has been living in apparent happiness on the farm of the husband about two miles west of Plymouth, not more than a week ago Mrs. Zimmerman entertained a number of her girl friends of this city at a house party.

It is said the young wife a day or so ago, hailed a neighbor driving by her home and prevailed upon him to take her to her relatives with whom she has since been staying.

Mrs. Zimmerman is not more than 18 years of age, and her husband is barely 20, it is said.

Andy Nelson, acting as constable, arrested Zimmerman at his home Friday. The young man came willingly with the officer and did not appear worried.

NOTED RELIGIOUS WORKER HERE SUNDAY

Dr. Parley Zartmann, who visits this city Sunday, is one of the great religious leaders of the day. His specialty is evangelism.

After a successful pastorate in Dayton, Ohio, he became manager of the great Simultaneous Campaigns conducted by Dr. J. William Chapman. From this work he assumed the leadership of the evangelistic work of the Presbyterian church. Moody Institute next claimed him as the head of its evangelistic department. There his success was so marked that he was called to be Secretary of the Interdenominational Evangelistic Association.

He comes to Washington to discuss the possibilities of a tabernacle campaign in the near future. He is charged with the responsibility of dating all the leading evangelists. He preaches Sunday morning at the Presbyterian church; addresses a mass meeting Sunday afternoon at Greenfield, returning for a mass meeting here at the M. E. church in the evening. He meets the county Ministerial Association Monday morning, discussing with them the county possibilities of a tabernacle campaign.

WILLIAM FARNUM

The highest Salaried Star on earth, will appear at

Palace Theater, Tuesday, June 1

in SAMSON "Not The Biblical Story"

Picturized version of the famous play as produced by the late Chas. Frohman at The Criterion Theatre, New York. It depicts the rise of a dock laborer to a master of finance and a man of millions, with a gripping love struggle—a drama of today. Mr. Farnum will be remembered as the Star in "The Spoilers," taking the part of Glenister, and was the originator of "Ben Hur." He also played the leading role in "The Littlest Rebel," "The White Sister," "Ingomar" and "The Prince of India"—all recent stage successes.

A Wm. Fox Production

By Henri Bernstein

Synopsis of the Story

"My temple was built of gold, Marie—and the vile wretch who spat upon me and insulted you lies mangled in its ruins! But it was only for you, Marie—because I love you."

That speech of Maurice Brachard, the Samson of modern finance, with all Paris, and most of Europe, at his feet, epitomizes the character of Brachard, the elemental man of giant intellect and titanic strength of body who, from a docklaborer, rose to be a power feared and looked up to in the money-marts of the world; only to wreck his "temple of gold" with his own hands to crush his enemies, even though he himself perished in the downfall. The Box Office Attractions Co., William Fox president, in presenting "Samson," its author's, Henri Bernstein's, indubitable masterpiece feels that it has accomplished one of its greatest Productions Extraordinary, by releasing a film version of this compelling drama of finance and intrigue, with its scathing arraignment of the Parisian fast set, whose orgies almost involve the woman whom Brachard loves in a whirlpool of fashionable vice.

Brachard, born in the Thieves Alley of Marseilles, breaks from his foul and evil surroundings as a youth and obtains a job as a dock laborer. Giant muscled and slow-moving he yet has within him a spark of unquenchable ambition that is kindled when, on the docks at Foulon, he hears of a Sunday, street preachers reading of "an old chap called Samson." Brachard buys the diamond cargo of a stove-in canal boat and disposes of it at a profit. It is the first step that is to bring him to his financial Dagon. Bit by bit he increases his holdings till he is enabled to make a plunge in Egyptian copper. This coup ultimately makes him a financial power with all Paris at his feet.

The Marquis D'Andonlin and the Marquise, both worldly financial schemers on the verge of ruin, but keeping up aristocratic appearances, marry off their daughter

Marie—whom Brachard loves with all the rugged force of his crude soul—to the newly-risen Croesus. Marie however loathes the rough, powerful man with the uncouth vigor of the dockyard still clinging to him despite the partial veneer that his dealings with men of millions has given him. Jerome Govaine, libertine, duelist and general man-about-town, meets the Brachards and Marie, fascinated by this polished Lothario, agrees to meet him at an orgy in a private room at a fast cafe. A "cast off" of Govaine's, Elise, warns Samson that the appointment is to be kept while the millionaire is absent on business trip in London. He pretends to start but instead of taking the train, returns home in time to trap his wife on her return disheveled and hysterical from the supper party. She has succeeded in escaping after a struggle when she saw into what company she had fallen. Brachard, with the intuition that has made him the master in many a financial duel, worms the truth from her at last and swears to avenge himself. Govaine, who has posed as his friend, is deeply involved in Copper, thanks to Brachard's tips. The former dock-laborer knows no weapons but his fists and a duel with Govaine would mean suicide for him. So he decides to ruin Govaine by "striking the market like a thunderbolt." He does so and in the crash that follows the fall of Egyptian Copper, his own fortune is wiped out and all France is plunged into the convulsions of a financial crisis. Mr. Brachard, having pulled down the pillars of his temple of gold, prepares to leave France forever; but he does not go alone, for Marie, who in his greatness has despised his rugged shrewdness and rude strength, finds in his downfall that she loves him. Brachard, amidst the chaos of his fallen temple, exclaims as she comes to his side:

"At last! At last! My hour has come!"

In Social Circles

A brilliant aftermath to the commencement period, and an affair of the utmost gaiety and pleasure, was the Junior-Senior banquet, given in the High school gymnasium Friday evening, and at which the Juniors filled the role of entertainers with marked distinction.

The big "gym" had been transformed into a conservatory of ferns and palms with the class colors, blue and white, festooned overhead and forming a huge dome over the tables. Softened by the dome the light streamed down upon the festive banquet scene, to which pretty girls, debonaire youths, music and flowers, feasting, clever wit and the spirit of congenial interests contributed.

The tables formed a hollow square and were most artistically decorated with baskets of pink and white snapdragons, linked together with garlands of smilax. Snapdragons were the favors and the place cards bore the class motto.

An elaborate banquet of five courses was admirably served, Mr. Frank Horstman adding to the pleasure of the hour by brilliant piano music.

Mr. Rudolph Schlabach filled the role of toastmaster happily, interspersing the toasts with new jokes and squibs.

Miss Marguerite Wilson, of the class of 1916, gave an extremely pretty toast with much grace, to the seniors.

Miss Jane Paul responded charmingly in behalf of the class of 1915.

A very clever and original humorous toast was given by Carl Beck, his subject "Between Me and You and the Door."

Edwards Hopkins responded to "The Humor of It" in quite a brilliant little toast, sparkling with appropriate hits relative to both teachers and pupils.

Principal O. K. Probasco, always a favorite speaker, was listened to with much interest, and was followed by Robert Johnson, class president of 1915, in a flowery toast to "The Girls of Washington High School."

After the toasts impromptu speeches were made by Supt. Wm. McClain, Mrs. S. O. Hale, of Xenia, Miss Mabel Houpp, Paul Craig, Jean Fitzgerald, Paul Smith, Walter Turner.

Senior president Johnson then pronounced the Juniors' Seniors and a merry hour with High Songs and reels followed, to be terminated with the 1915 class song.

Armatrout, of the Dairy Lunch, presided.

Miss Helen Persinger was chairman of the reception committee; Miss Helen Persinger of the program committee, and Miss Emily Tanney, of the decorating committee.

Mrs. S. O. Hale, of Xenia, and Miss Pauline Adams, of St. Louis, a former member of the 1915 class, were out of town guests.

The large grounds of the Coffman home on Sunnyside presented a gay scene Friday night, when a merry crowd of seventy enjoyed a "chop roast" and attendant out door pleasures.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Fite, Miss Berte Coffman and Mr. Grant Coffman were the instigators of the roast and largely responsible for the evening's success.

A game of volley ball was followed by the roast, for which an immense bonfire had been built and there was fun galore in cooking the chops, supplemented by many picnic delicacies.

The remainder of the evening was spent in games and fireworks, the threatening rain considerably holding off until the party broke up.

The M. H. G. club held another of their delightful spreads at the home of Mrs. Austin F. Hopkins Friday night, and the thirty young matrons and girls present voiced it the jolliest of the series.

The big assembly room on the third floor was pressed into service for the picnic supper, comprising everything appetizing in the picnic line.

Victrola and piano music added to the pleasures of the evening. Mr. Hopkins' son Edwards, and guest, Spenser Davis, of Columbus, were masculine guests at the spread.

C. P. West and others against the Fayette County School Board, and others, came up in Common Pleas Court, Saturday morning at ten o'clock, with John Logan representing the plaintiffs and Prosecutor Maddox and Post & Reid representing the defendants in the action.

After some contention among the attorneys, Judge Carpenter gave the defendants until Tuesday to file affidavits for the hearing, and the case will be taken up at nine o'clock Tuesday morning.

Some forty citizens, including many of the plaintiffs and defendants, were present watching the proceedings with interest.

IMPORTANT PEAK TAKEN BY ITALIANS

Rome, May 29.—With the occupation of the town of Garda, in the Gulf of Trieste, the Italian front in the advance over the eastern frontier into Austrian territory now forms a continuous line of about forty miles, stretching from Caporetto, on the left flank, to the sea. The farthest advance into Austrian territory is at Montefalcone, on the railway to Trieste, the Italians being there within twenty-two miles of that port.

The Italian forces which invaded Tyrol from the south within the frontier of that region have advanced as far as the mouth of the Chiese river, in Lake Idre, occupying all the rugged region between the lake and Lake Garda to the east. There have been artillery engagements at the Tonole pass, where very strong Austrian forts bar the progress of the Italians, and on the Asiago plateau, on the eastern frontier of Tyrol, toward which the invaders proceeded up Val Sugana.

Italian gunboats on Lake Garda gave effective support to the troops operating on the eastern shore of the lake, enabling them to occupy several strategic points around Monte Baldo, of which an important peak, Monte Altissimo, 6,790 feet high, was captured. The objective of these troops is to move on the railway connecting Riva and Arco with Rovereto and Trento, thus cutting off from the railway the Austrian garrison at Riva and the Austrian forces at the mouth of the Adige.

In the big mountains overlooking the Val d'Adige, on the southeastern frontier of the Trentino, an Italian lieutenant and eighty-five men held at bay for an hour a company and a half of Bavarian troops, armed with Maxim guns. Italian artillery was finally hauled up the steep slopes and the Germans fled. The Italian lieutenant was killed.

The Italians report success also in the attacks on the passes leading into Carinthia, three of which are now in their hands, as well as fourteen frontier villages. At one point in this region Italians and Bavarians have been in conflict. An Austrian battery at this point was silenced.

The Italian newspapers warn the public that the rapid advance into Austrian territory can not be kept up indefinitely. They say the Austrians have undoubtedly a strong fortified line behind the mountains stretching from Gortitz to Gradisca and thence southeasterly to Nabresina and that

FEELING IS HIGH AMONG GERMANS

London, May 29.—The Nation prints extracts from a letter from its correspondent abroad in which he says: "During the past few days I have had frequent opportunities of conversing with Germans of all classes, workmen, business men, members of the consular staff, returning from Germany. They are in magnificent spirits, but they tell me frankly that the Germans are more confident of victory than ever, and that every man who can carry a rifle or help to kill will count. All the male population between 14 and 60 years will eventually be called out. The Kaiser has never been so popular. The greater the number of nations against them the greater their triumph will be in the end. That is the genuine feeling in Germany. Depression and murmuring is unknown there and food is cheaper in Germany than it is in Switzerland or Italy."

CONSPIRATOR IS FOUND GUILTY

New York, May 29.—Jacob L. Salas was found guilty of conspiracy to defraud the United States government after the jury, which had been hearing the testimony in the case since last Monday, had deliberated for an hour. Salas was remanded for sentence Wednesday. His bail of $10,000 was continued. Salas was indicted with John Burke and Ricardo Bernudez. It was charged that he entered into an arrangement with these men by which they were to furnish tobacco to the commissary department of the Panama Railroad company, of which Burke was the general manager. For placing contracts for tobacco with Salas and Bernudez, Burke, it is said, was to get one-third of the profits.

FRENCH REPULSE FIERCE ATTACK

Paris, May 29.—Seven German attacks of unsurpassed fierceness, all directed against the same point in the French lines, near d'Angres, indicate the importance of recent French successes at this point and Teutonic determination to win back the lost ground. These attacks were all made in twenty-four hours; after each had been repulsed the lines were reformed and another assault was made, but in each case the French, according to the official statement, were able to hold their own. The official statement tells of slight gains at other points along the line and of the repulses the Germans suffered in their counter attacks. The British troops have made progress in the direction of La Bassée.

CHICAGO MEAT PACKERS INDICTED

Chicago, May 29.—Swift & Co. were named in an indictment, including twenty-nine counts, returned by the federal grand jury, charging violation of the federal laws regulating interstate shipments of meats and packing house products. Armour & Co. were named in another indictment, charged with conspiracy to violate a federal statute relating to the shipment of frozen eggs. The indictment against Swift & Co. grows out of a shipment to Ann Arbor over the Chicago and Northwestern railroad by way of Manitowoc, Wis. The company is charged with receiving concessions whereby its product was transported at a lower rate than the published rate. The indictment against Armour & Co. alleges that the egg shipment contained decayed animal matter.

PREVENTION ALWAYS BETTER THAN CURE

Ohio Commission for the Blind Urges Care of Eyes.

That an ounce of prevention is better than a pound of cure is just as true of the eyes as of any other part of the body. Saving sight by carefully directed nursing service is one of the most important parts of the work of the Ohio Commission for the Blind, which believes that saving eyes not only saves dollars, but also results in happiness that can not be measured in money.

The commission employs special eye nurses to go into the homes of those who have eye troubles and help the patient to secure expert medical advice and prompt treatment. Unfortunately the funds of the commission are so limited that they are able to employ only a few of these specially trained eye nurses.
It is interesting to note, however, that in several communities where the commission has maintained such an eye nurse, the city or local organization has decided to permanently employ such a worker for its sight saving campaign.

The Exercise of Choice.

The human faculties of perception, judgment, discriminative feeling, mental activity, and even moral preference, are exercised only in making a choice. He who does anything because it is the custom makes no choice. He gains no practice either in discerning or desiring what is best. The mental and moral, like the muscular powers, are improved only by being used. The faculties are called into no exercise by doing a thing merely because others do it, no more than by believing a thing only because others believe it. * * *
He who lets the world, or his own portion of it, choose his plan of life for him has no need of any other faculty than the apeline one of imitation. He who chooses his plan for himself employs all his faculties.—John Stuart Mill.

ROMANTIC ELOPEMENT HAS SEQUEL IN SQUIRE'S COURT

FRED ZIMMERMAN, WHOSE ELOPEMENT WITH ROSETTA LUTTERILL A YEAR AGO CAUSED A STIR IN HIGH SCHOOL HERE, IS BROUGHT INTO COURT AT INSTANCE OF WIFE AND BOUND OVER TO GRAND JURY ON CHARGE OF ASSAULT AND BATTERY—REQUIRED ALSO TO GIVE PEACE BOND.

A most unpleasant sequel to a romantic elopement of a little more than a year ago was enacted in the court of Justice of the Peace T. N. Craig Friday afternoon when Fred Zimmerman, a young farmer of the Milledgeville neighborhood, was asked to answer to a charge of assault and battery preferred against him by his wife who was formerly Miss Rosetta Lutterill, of this city. Zimmerman waived examination and was bound over to the grand jury. He was also placed under peace bond. The bonds were $300 each and were supplied.

The news of the difficulty comes as a shock to the many friends of the pair here, as well as to those of their own neighborhood; especially as it recalls their romantic elopement of more than a year ago, when, as sweetheart classmates in the local high school, they played "hooky" one afternoon and went to Covington, Ky., where they procured a license to wed and were made man and wife. The stir created in the school at the time is well remembered.

Since their marriage the couple has been living in apparent happiness on the farm of the husband about two miles west of Plymouth, not more than a week ago Mrs. Zimmerman entertained a number of her girl friends of this city at a house party.

It is said the young wife a day or so ago, hailed a neighbor driving by her home and prevailed upon him to take her to her relatives with whom she has since been staying.

Mrs. Zimmerman is not more than 18 years of age, and her husband is barely 20, it is said.

Andy Nelson, acting as constable, arrested Zimmerman at his home Friday. The young man came willingly with the officer and did not appear worried.

NOTED RELIGIOUS WORKER HERE SUNDAY

Dr. Parley Zartmann, who visits this city Sunday, is one of the great religious leaders of the day. His specialty is evangelism.

After a successful pastorate in Dayton, Ohio, he became manager of the great Simultaneous Campaigns conducted by Dr. J. William Chapman. From this work he assumed the leadership of the evangelistic work of the Presbyterian church. Moody Institute next claimed him as the head of its evangelistic department. There his success was so marked that he was called to be Secretary of the Interdenominational Evangelistic Association.

He comes to Washington to discuss the possibilities of a tabernacle campaign in the near future. He is charged with the responsibility of dating all the leading evangelists. He preaches Sunday morning at the Presbyterian church; addresses a mass meeting Sunday afternoon at Greenfield, returning for a mass meeting here at the M. E. church in the evening. He meets the county Ministerial Association Monday morning, discussing with them the county possibilities of a tabernacle campaign.

WILLIAM FARNUM

The highest Salaried Star on earth, will appear at

Palace Theater, Tuesday, June 1 in SAMSON

"Not The Biblical Story"

Picturized version of the famous play as produced by the late Chas. Frohman at The Criterion Theatre, New York. It depicts the rise of a dock laborer to a master of finance and a man of millions, with a gripping love struggle—a drama of today. Mr. Farnum will be remembered as the Star in "The Spoilers," taking the part of Glenister, and was the originator of "Ben Hur." He also played the leading role in "The Littlest Rebel," "The White Sister," "Ingo-mar" and "The Prince of India"—all recent stage successes.

A Wm. Fox Production

By Henri Bernstein

Synopsis of the Story

"My temple was built of gold, Marie—and the vile wretch who spat upon me and insulted you lies mangled in its ruins! But it was only for you, Marie—because I love you."

That speech of Maurice Brachard, the Samson of modern finance, with all Paris, and most of Europe, at his feet, epitomizes the character of Brachard, the elemental man of giant intellect and titanic strength of body who, from a docklaborer, rose to be a power feared and looked up to in the money-marts of the world; only to wreck his "temple of gold" with his own hands to crush his enemies, even though he himself perished in the downfall. The Box Office Attractions Co., William Fox president, in presenting "Samson," its author's, Henri Bernstein's, indubitable masterpiece feels that it has accomplished one of its greatest Productions Extraordinary, by releasing a film version of this compelling drama of finance and intrigue, with its scathing arraignment of the Parisian fast set, whose orgies almost involve the woman whom Brachard loves in a whirlpool of fashionable vice.

Brachard, born in the Thieves Alley of Marseilles, breaks from his foul and evil surroundings as a youth and obtains a job as a docklaborer. Giant muscled and slow-moving he yet has within him a spark of unquenchable ambition that is kindled when, on the docks at Foulon, he hears of a Sunday, street preachers reading of "an old chap called Samson." Brachard buys the diamond cargo of a stove-in canal boat and disposes of it at a profit. It is the first step that is to bring him to his financial Dagon. Bit by bit he increases his holdings till he is enabled to make a plunge in Egyptian copper. This coup ultimately makes him a financial power with all Paris at his feet.

The Marquis D'Andonlin and the Marquise, both worldly financial schemers on the verge of ruin, but keeping up aristocratic appearances, marry off their daughter

Marie—whom Brachard loves with all the rugged force of his crude soul—to the newly-risen Croesus. Marie however loathes the rough, powerful man with the uncouth vigor of the dockyard still clinging to him despite the partial veneer that his dealings with men of millions has given him. Jerome Govaine, libertine, duelist and general man-about-town, meets the Brachards and Marie, fascinated by this polished Lothario, agrees to meet him at an orgy in a private room at a fast cafe. A "cast off" of Govaine's, Elise, warns Samson that the appointment is to be kept while the millionaire is absent on business trip in London. He pretends to start but instead of taking the train, returns home in time to trap his wife on her return disheveled and hysterical from the supper party. She has succeeded in escaping after a struggle when she saw into what company she had fallen. Brachard, with the intuition that has made him the master in many a financial duel, worms the truth from her at last and swears to avenge himself. Govaine, who has posed as his friend, is deeply involved in Copper, thanks to Brachard's tips. The former dock-laborer knows no weapons but his fists and a duel with Govaine would mean suicide for him. So he decides to ruin Govaine by "striking the market like a thunderbolt." He does so and in the crash that follows the fall of Egyptian Copper, his own fortune is wiped out and all France is plunged into the convulsions of a financial crisis. Mr. Brachard, having pulled down the pillars of his temple of gold, prepares to leave France forever; but he does not go alone, for Marie, who in his greatness has despised his rugged shrewdness and rude strength, finds in his downfall that she loves him. Brachard, amidst the chaos of his fallen temple, exclaims as she comes to his side:

"At last! At last! My hour has come!"

A brilliant aftermath to the commencement period, and an affair of roast and attendant out door pleasures, the Junior-Senior banquet, given in the High school gymnasium Friday evening, and at which the Juniors filled the role of entertainers with marked distinction.

The big "gym" had been transformed into a conservatory of ferns and palms with the class colors, blue and white, festooned overhead and forming a huge dome over the tables. Softened by the dome the light streamed down upon the festive banquet scene, to which pretty girls, debonair youths, music and flowers, feasting, clever wit and the spirit of congenial interests contributed.

The tables formed a hollow square and were most artistically decorated with baskets of pink and white snapdragons, linked together with garlands of smilax. Snapdragons were the favors and the place cards bore the class motto.

An elaborate banquet of five courses was admirably served, Mr. Frank Horstman adding to the pleasure of the hour by brilliant piano music.

Mr. Rudolph Schlabach filled the role of toastmaster happily, interspersing the toasts with new jokes and squibs.

Miss Marguerite Wilson, of the class of 1916, gave an extremely pretty toast with much grace, to the seniors.

Miss Jane Paul responded charmingly in behalf of the class of 1915. A very clever and original humorous toast was given by Carl Beck, subject "Between Me and You and the Door."

Edwards Hopkins responded to "The Humor of It" in quite a brilliant little toast, sparkling with appropriate hits relative to both teachers and pupils.

Principal O. K. Probasco, always a favorite speaker, was listened to with much interest, and was followed by Robert Johnson, class president of 1915, in a flowery toasts to "The Girls of Washington High School."

After the toasts impromptu speeches were made by Supt. Wm. McClain, Mrs. S. O. Hale, of Xenia, Miss Mabel Houpp, Paul Craig, Jean Fitzgerald, Paul Smith, Walter Turley.

Senior president Johnson then pronounced the Juniors Seniors and a merry hour with High Songs and glee followed, to be terminated with the 1915 class song.

Armstrong, of the Dairy Lunch, uttered.

Miss Helen Persinger was chairman of the reception committee; Miss Helen Persinger of the program committee, and Miss Emily Tanzy, of the decorating committee.

Mrs. S. O. Hale, of Xenia, and Miss Pauline Adams, of St. Louis, a former member of the 1915 class, were out of town guests.

The large grounds of the Coffman home on Sunnyside presented a gay trop, of Chillicothe, were motoring here Friday night, when a merry crowd of seventy enjoyed a "chop roast" and attendant out door pleasures. Mr. and Mrs. Ed Fite, Miss Berte Coffman and Mr. Grant Coffman were the instigators of the roast and largely responsible for the evening's success.

A game of volley ball was followed by the roast, for which an immense bonfire had been built and there was fun galore in cooking the chops, supplemented by many picnic delicacies.

The remainder of the evening was spent in games and fireworks, the threatening rain considerably holding off until the party broke up.

The M. H. G. club held another of their delightful spreads at the home of Mrs. Austin F. Hopkins Friday night, and the thirty young matrons and girls present voiced it the jolliest of the series.

The big assembly room on the third floor was pressed into service for the picnic supper, comprising everything appetizing in the picnic line.

Victrola and piano music added to the pleasures of the evening. Mr. Hopkins' son Edwards, and guest, Spenser Davis, of Columbus, were masculine guests at the spread.

LAW PROHIBITING
FALSE ADVERTISING IS CONSTITUTIONAL

Cincinnati, May 29.—Judge Alexander in municipal court held in the case of Charles Scheingold that the new Ohio honest advertising law is constitutional and that Scheingold will have to stand trial on the merits of the case.
The statute makes it a misdemeanor for anyone to advertise any assertion, representation or statement which is "untrue or deceptive." A fine of from $10 to $100 or imprisonment for 20 days or both is provided.
In the Scheingold case the attorneys for the Retail Merchants' Association claim that Scheingold advertised all-wool serge pants for $2.95, but they were not all wool.

W. R. C. NOTES

The past week has been of unusual activity in G. A. R. and W. R. C. circles. First the excellent memorial sermon by Rev. Gage on Sunday, then the fine entertainment furnished by the Epworth League for Wednesday evening; the regular meeting of the W. R. C. on Thursday followed by the Peace Day program in charge of Mrs. Carpenter, at which the comrades were honored guests.
Friday the monthly Kensington of the W. R. C. was held at the home of Mrs. Ellison. The assisting hostesses were Mesdames Leland, Mills,
Girard, Hyer, Kidd, Kennedy,
Henkle, Barrett and Miss Lillian Boswell. The decorations consisted of a profusion of flags and flowers.
The entertainment was a flower contest, in which Mrs. Barrere won the prize, pink and white carnations.
Music was furnished by Mrs. Fannie Kidd and Mrs. Girard. Refreshments were served. Fifty-one ladies enjoyed the afternoon.
Mrs. Bay, of Staunton, was the only out of town guest.
Y. M. C. A. NOTES

An interesting dinner session of the Dutch Treat club was held Thursday. The chief matter of consideration was the Y. M. C. A. matinee races set for June 17. Several reports from committees were received. The Program Committee announced that a number of entries had been received from this and adjoining counties and that one entry was slated from as far away as Paducah, Ky. It was reported that the fairgrounds had been engaged for the event. It was suggested that

IMPORTANT PEAK TAKEN BY ITALIANS

Rome, May 29.—With the occupation of the town of Garda, in the Gulf of Trieste, the Italian front in the advance over the eastern frontier into Austrian territory now forms a continuous line of about forty miles, stretching from Caporetto, on the left flank, to the sea. The farthest advance into Austrian territory is at Montefalcone, on the railway to Trieste, the Italians being thus within twenty-two miles of that port.

The Italian forces which invaded Tyrol from the south within the frontier of that region have advanced as far as the mouth of the Chiave river, in Lake Idre, occupying all the rugged region between the lake and Lake Garda to the east. There have been artillery engagements at the Tonale pass, where very strong Austrian forces bar the progress of the Italians, and on the Asiago plateau, on the eastern frontier of Tyrol, toward which the invaders proceeded up Val Sugana.

Italian gunboats on Lake Garda gave effective support to the troops operating on the eastern shore of the lake, enabling them to occupy several strategic points around Monte Baldo, of which an important peak, Monte Altissimo, 6,790 feet high, was captured. The objective of these troops is to move on the railway connecting Riva and Arco with Rovereto and Trento, thus cutting off from the railway the Austrian garrison at Riva and the Austrian forces at the mouth of the Adige.

In the big mountains overlooking the Val d'Agno, on the southeastern frontier of the Trentino, an Italian lieutenant and eighty-five men held at bay for an hour a company and a half of Bavarian troops, armed with Maxim guns. Italian artillery was finally hauled up the steep slopes and the Germans fled. The Italian lieutenant was killed.

The Italians report success also in the attacks on the passes leading into Carinthia, three of which are now in their hands, as well as fourteen frontier villages. At one point in this region Italians and Bavarians have been in conflict. An Austrian battery at this point was silenced.

The Italian newspapers warn the public that the rapid advance into Austrian territory can not be kept up indefinitely. They say the Austrians have undoubtedly a strong fortified line behind the mountains stretching from Gortitz to Gradisca and thence southeasterly to Nervesa and thence

It is reported that the Italians have landed on the island of Rhodes, off the coast of Asia Minor, while a cruiser has been bombarding Bedrum, which is on the Gulf of Kos, on the mainland of Asiatic Turkey, not far from Rhodes. This is believed to be the first step in an attempt to land on the Asia Minor coast.

FEELING IS HIGH AMONG GERMANS

London, May 29.—The Nation prints extracts from a letter from its correspondent abroad in which he says: "During the past few days I have had frequent opportunities of conversing with Italians of all classes, workmen, business men, members of the consulate staff, returning from Germany. They are in magnificent spirits, but they tell me frankly that the Germans are more confident of victory than ever, and that every man who can carry a rifle or help to kill will count. All the male population between 14 and 60 years will eventually be called out. The Kaiser has never been so popular. The greater the number of nations against them the greater their triumph will be in the end. That is the genuine feeling in Germany. Depression and murmuring is unknown there and food is cheaper in Germany than it is in Switzerland or Italy."

CONSPIRATOR IS FOUND GUILTY

New York, May 29.—Jacob L. Salas was found guilty of conspiracy to defraud the United States government after the jury, which had been hearing the testimony in the case since last Monday, had deliberated for an hour. Salas was remanded for sentence Wednesday. His bail of $10,000 was continued. Salas was indicted with John Burke and Ricardo Bernudez. It was charged that he entered into an arrangement with these men by which they were to furnish tobacco to the commissary department of the Panama Railroad company, of which Burke was the general manager. For placing contracts for tobacco with Salas and Bernudez, Burke, it is said, was to get one-third of the profits.

FRENCH REPULSE FIERCE ATTACK

Paris, May 29.—Seven German attacks of unsurpassed fierceness, all directed against the same point in the French lines, near d'Angres, indicate the importance of recent French successes at this point and Teutonic determination to win back the lost ground. These attacks were all made in twenty-four hours; after each had been repulsed the lines were reformed and another assault was made, but in each case the French, according to the official statement, were able to hold their own. The official statement tells of slight gains at other points along the line and of the repulses the Germans suffered in their counter attacks. The British troops have made progress in the direction of La Bassee.

CHICAGO MEAT PACKERS INDICTED

Chicago, May 29.—Swift & Co. were named in an indictment, including twenty-nine counts, returned by the federal grand jury, charging violation of the federal laws regulating interstate shipments of meats and packing house products. Armour & Co. were named in another indictment, charged with conspiracy to violate a federal statute relating to the shipment of frozen eggs. The indictment against Swift & Co. grows out of a shipment to Ann Arbor over the Chicago and Northwestern railroad by way of Manitowish, Wis. The company is charged with receiving concessions whereby its product was transported at a lower rate than the published rate. The indictment against Armour & Co. alleges that the egg shipment contained decayed animal matter.

MRS. A. P. ALDRICH DANGEROUSLY ILL

New York, May 29.—Last Mrs. Abby P. Aldrich is so ill at her New York home she had not been told of the death of her husband, the late United States Senator Nelson W. Aldrich of Rhode Island, became known in connection with the filing of his will at Warwick, R. I. Mrs. Aldrich collapsed when her husband was stricken several weeks ago, and her condition has not improved.

PREVENTION ALWAYS BETTER THAN CURE

Ohio Commission for the Blind
Urges Care of Eyes.

That an ounce of prevention is better than a pound of cure is just as true of the eyes as of any other part of the body. Saving sight by carefully directed nursing service is one of the most important parts of the work of the Ohio Commission for the Blind, which believes that saving eyes not only saves dollars, but also results in happiness that can not be measured in money.

The commission employs special eye nurses to go into the homes of those who have eye troubles and help the patient to secure expert medical advice and prompt treatment. Unfortunately the funds of the commission are so limited that they are able to employ only a few of these specially trained eye nurses.

It is interesting to note, however, that in several communities where the commission has maintained such an eye nurse, the city or local organization has decided to permanently employ such a worker for its sight saving campaign.

lap in the first eastern series, and by the end of the present week will be here on the home lot for a long stay. During the series to be played on Redland Field they will meet every team in the league. Sunday games being scheduled as follows: May 30, Pittsburgh; June 6, Boston; June 13, New York; June 20, Philadelphia; June 27, Chicago; July 4, St. Louis.

While the eastern trip has not been a brilliant one so far as victories are concerned, it has had the advantage of allowing Manager Herzog to get a better line on the strongest possible make-up with the material he has on hand. The result is that the team is more menacing to its opponents now than it has been at any time this season.

with the long stretch on the home grounds the local fans may expect to see some high class sport on the local lot during June.

With the comparatively small margin between the leaders and the tail-enders in the National League there is no telling what is likely to happen in the way of ups and downs during the next few months.

It will be remembered that at this time last season the Boston Braves were apparently a hopeless last—they managed to get out in front and cop the world's championship. The Reds and one or two other teams in the National League are just as likely to upset some of the dope that has been written about them as were the Braves last year. Manager Herzog is rapidly bringing about a fight

Over at Latonia they're massaging the track and marcelling the grass in preparation for the opening of the local racing season on June 8. And it's going to be some season, too, with 24 days of sport, running up to and including July 5. The Latonia Derby, to be run on June 12 over the regular English Derby distance of one and one-half miles, is easily a $10,000 event. Other races will be worth from $2,000 up, making this meeting the richest for owners ever held at Latonia.

Cincinnati has several players on its roster for whom any club in the

There is not a team in either

Final Arrangements For Decoration Day Exercises

Final arrangements for the observance of Memorial Day have been completed and no ceremonies will take place on Sunday, but all will be carried out on Monday.

Exercises will occur at Memorial Hall beginning at 1:30 p. m., and the march to the cemetery for the ceremonies will begin about three o'clock.

Following is the order of exercises:

12:00 to 12:05....Tolling of Bells At Memorial Hall. 1:30 p. m.

Post. Com. John Hartman, Chairman Invocation....Chaplain John Near Logan's General Order No 1.....Comrade James Newland Quartette—A. W. West, Herbert Davenport, J. W. Hicks, E. H. Burch.

Order of March to Cemetery. Rankin Paul, Marshal—Company M, Ohio National Guards; Col. B. H. Millikan Camp Sons of Veterans; Spanish-American War Veterans; Flower Wagons; Women's Relief Corps; Ladies' Circle of Grand Army of the Republic Veterans; Citizens.

On arrival at the cemetery graves will be decorated by the Sons of Veterans.

Cenotaph Services. Services by the Women's Relief Corps; Grand Army of the Republic Exercises, conducted by I. N. Rowe, Commander, John Near Chaplain; John Arnold, Officer of the Day; Salute, Company M; Taps.

On return from the cemetery the Ladies' Circle of the Grand Army of the Republic will serve refreshments at Memorial Hall to the members of the various organizations participating in the exercises of the day.

BUSINESS HOUSES TO CLOSE.

In accordance with the general observance of Monday, a legal holiday, as Decoration Day, a general closing of banks, mercantile establishments and grocery stores is announced for that day.

Definite announcement of the general closing was made Thursday, and as a result the entire day will be observed as a day upon which to pay tribute to the dead and to display the patriotic spirit of true American citizens.

It is urged that every citizen in Washington and Fayette county bring Old Glory to the breeze early Monday morning and let the flags remain throughout the day.

With half the world at war the American flag should now mean more to Americans than ever before.

THE SPIRIT OF MEMORIAL DAY.

WE are apt to live too much in the world that is and not enough in the world that ought to be; too much in the world of fact and not enough in the world of imagination. The facts of life alone will not satisfy human needs. They may satisfy a dog or a bee, but they will not satisfy a man. Man requires more than facts in his life. Along with the facts he must have imagination, must see more than is in sight, must feel more than the material things that touch him. He cannot live by bread alone. He must live a good deal by faith and by memories and in his hopes. The best and noblest and most consoling part of life is the life of the spirit, of religion, of the patriotism that would die for an idea, of the integrity that cares for right because it is right and for liberty because in liberty the soul of man grows strong and for order because without it liberty cannot endure. It is this part of life that Memorial Day is ordained to foster—this immortal, invaluable, indispensable part of it. Money is useful; wealth is past labor stored up for future use. Men will do much for money, and they do well to be regardful of the usefulness of wealth. But they will do more for sentiment, for something that exists only in the imagination, only in their hearts. For that they will turn aside from the creation of wealth and will give their substance and, if need be, their very lives.

It is to preserve this trait in men that Memorial day is instituted. It reminds us of our fathers, who gave their lives for an idea—Edward S. Martin in Youth's Companion.

To the Unknown Dead.

One of the most touching ceremonies of Memorial day, perhaps the one which is felt most keenly by the surviving veterans, is the tributes collected in memory of the unknown dead. There were men who went into battle

IN THE WAR AND AFTER.

Battle Incident Which Led Later to Restoration of a Sword.

General Keifer, later in congress from the Springfield (O.) district, was one of the last men wounded in the civil war. He entered the volunteer army in April, 1861, and served until after Lee's surrender in 1865. In all that time he received three scratches, but shortly after the surrender he was scouting at the head of a small force of cavalry and came suddenly upon a large force of Confederate cavalry. There was a skirmish, in which Keifer was wounded and in which he would have been killed had it not been for the intervention of the Confederate commander, who, under the circumstances, simply wanted to be let alone.

Keifer returned to camp, had his wound dressed, reported to headquarters and received special orders and with re-enforcements started to find the derelict Confederates. He found them, and Colonel Tucker, the Confederate commander, surrendered. Keifer carried Tucker's sword home with him, and it was kept in his library at Springfield as a trophy of the war.

In 1876 Keifer was elected to congress and in 1881 was elected speaker. Among his acquaintances in 1879 was

In conversation one day Keifer told Tucker the story of the sword, and Tucker said the officer who surrendered the day of the skirmish was undoubtedly his brother. This fact being established, Keifer took the sword to Washington and placed it in the hands of J. Randolph Tucker, who restored it to its original owner. In after years General Keifer became again a member of congress and found the son of J. Randolph Tucker in the father's seat.

At Arlington.

Those heroes who by stream and steep Fought fearless, if they lost or won. And now sleep deep their long last sleep Beneath the sod of Arlington. —Clinton Scottard.

The Flag on Memorial Day.

The following question is asked frequently: What is the correct way to put out a flag on Memorial Day, May 30?

Here is the answer, taken from the United States army regulations: "On Memorial day at all army posts and stations the national flag will be displayed at half staff from sunrise until midday, and before noon the band will play a dirge or some appropriate air. At the conclusion of this memorial tribute, at noon, the flag will be hoisted to the top of the staff and will remain there until sunset."

On Memorial day or other occasion when the flag is displayed at half staff, on raising the flag it should go to the peak and then be dropped one width of the flag. In striking the flag it should be always returned to the peak before setting.

SAYING A FEW WORDS.

When Your Turn Comes Remember That Short Speeches Never Bore.

If you are called upon to say a few words after dinner or at a meeting, don't be backward. Get right up and go at it.

The chances are that what you say on such an occasion, without preparation, will be of no importance and probably wouldn't have been of importance if it had been prepared in advance, but that isn't the point.

The point is that the minds of your hearers will be quite as blank and amorphous as your own, and consequently the few who actually listen to you will have no means of judging whether what you say is rational or not. The majority, out of politeness, will assume that you did well, or if they do not wish to commit themselves too irretrievably they will say you did well "under the circumstances."

The whole secret in "saying a few words" lies in making it "few." If you go on and on and on, your audience will not heed or remember a thing you said. They will only remember that you talked long enough to bore them. Short speeches never bore.—E. O. J. in Life.

Names Usurped by Women.

Mary is not by any means the only name that has been borne by men and women alike, writes a correspondent of the London Chronicle, who has dipped into old parish and other registers. Sir Patience Ward was lord mayor of London in 1689. Eve Shiffhton is mentioned in a will of the sixteenth century, and Grace Hardwin was an old landowner in America.

As to male names usurped by the ladies, instances occur of feminine Phillips and Georges, and in one case a daughter was duly baptized Noah. A goddaughter of the Duke of Wellington was named Arthur in his honor, and in Effingham church there is a monument to Timothy, wife of Richard Mabanke.

Mutual Attraction.

"So the telephone operator in the hospital is going to marry the surgeon?"

"So I fear."

"Ability of tastes, I suppose. The cuts people off, and he cuts 'em up!"—Baltimore American.

LAW PROHIBITING FALSE ADVERTISING IS CONSTITUTIONAL

Cincinnati, May 29.—Judge Alexander in municipal court held in the case of Charles Scheingold that the new Ohio honest advertising law is constitutional and that Scheingold will have to stand trial on the merits of the case.
The statute makes it a misdemeanor for anyone to advertise any assertion, representation or statement which is "untrue or deceptive." A fine of from $10 to $100 or imprisonment for 20 days or both is provided. In the Scheingold case the attorneys for the Retail Merchants' Association claim that Scheingold advertised all-wool serge pants for $2.95, but they were not all wool.

CORWIN WILL BE BACK IN THE LINEUP SUNDAY

Manager Noon of the Athletics has announced that Hig Corwin will be back on the Athletic lineup for tomorrow's game with the Bates Pirates, at short.

Corwin has returned to his home in Leesburg from Stony Gap, Va., where he went sometime ago to join a league team. Hig will probably spend the remainder of the season at home and fans will be glad to have him back. Dorsay, who has been playing short in Hig's absence, will probably alternate with one of the basemen.

Linson will pitch Sunday's game and Cotterill will occupy the slab Monday.

FLOWERS WANTED FOR DECORATION

The Sons of Veterans respectfully call on the people of Washington to furnish flowers for the decoration of the graves of our soldier dead, and urge that the flowers be made ready early Monday morning next.

School children will call at the homes of Washington citizens Monday morning and will at once take all flowers to the Central school building for preparation.
Let everybody furnish as many flowers as possible and thereby assist in making our Decoration Day tribute as impressive as we can.

W. R. C. NOTES

The past week has been of unusual activity in G. A. R. and W. R. C. circles. First the excellent memorial sermon by Rev. Gage on Sunday, then the fine entertainment furnished by the Epworth League for Wednesday evening; the regular meeting of the W. R. C. on Thursday followed by the Peace Day program in charge of Mrs. Carpenter, at which the Comrades were honored guests.
Friday the monthly Kensington of the W. R. C. was held at the home of Mrs. Ellison. The assisting hostesses were Mesdames Leland, Mills, Girdard, Hyer, Kidd, Kennedy, Henkle, Barrett and Miss Lillian Boswell. The decorations consisted of a profusion of flags and flowers.
The entertainment was a flower contest, in which Mrs. Barrere won the prize, pink and white carnations. Music was furnished by Mrs. Fannie Kidd and Mrs. Girdard. Refreshments were served. Fifty-one ladies enjoyed the afternoon.
Mrs. Bay, of Staunton, was the only out of town guest.

the local company Ohio National Guards be invited to assist in activities of the day.
